"Intellectual Property Rights" means any and all rights under patent law, copyright law, trade secret law, trademark law, and any and all other proprietary rights. Except to the extent licenses are expressly granted hereunder, Medialooks and its licensors retain all right, title and interest in and to all Intellectual Property Rights in and to the Product and documentation. Where required by the applicable license, you may obtain a complete machine-readable copy of the source code for such free software without charge except for the cost of media, shipping, and handling, upon written request to Medialooks. For example, some of our Products are dynamically linked with an LGPL build of FFmpeg. FFmpeg is an open source library licensed under the LGPL version 2.1. All representations of your logo shall be exact copies of those used by you in design, color and other details. You may revoke the foregoing permission at any time by notifying Medialooks in writing.

14.2. You agree that if Medialooks does not exercise or enforce any legal right or remedy which is contained in this License (or which Medialooks has the benefit of under any applicable law), this will not be taken to be a formal waiver of Medialooks' rights and that those rights or remedies will still be available to Medialooks.

You may not distribute the Product, use the Product in connection with any deployed computer system (including without limitation commercial, any for-profit or publicly accessible system), or use the Product in a production environment or for commercial or revenue-generating purposes. Despite any other provision of the License to the contrary, Products licensed pursuant to an evaluation license (i) are licensed “AS-IS” AND YOU BEAR THE RISK OF USING THE PRODUCT, and (ii) will be supported only during the period of the evaluation license. EXCEPT AS REQUIRED BY LOCAL LAW, MEDIALOOKS GIVES NO EXPRESS WARRANTIES, GUARANTEES OR CONDITIONS. Except as expressly permitted herein, you shall have no right to otherwise use or display the Product or any content on or from the Product in any format (including as a website, blog, digital advertising, digital promotion, digital editorial, or online social media account) or print format (including in physical print formats such as brochures, magazines and posters).

Video SDK License

The Video SDK Product is licensed per Named Developer, and may be licensed under 3 different license types: Indie Developer, Company, and Enterprise. In all cases, a Named Developer is a user specifically identified by you to Medialooks in connection with a purchase of a Video SDK License who shall have the right to exercise your licensed rights for the License you have purchased.

Subject to and in consideration of timely payment by you of any applicable License Fees, and to your and your Named Developers’ compliance with the other terms and conditions of the License, Medialooks hereby grants only to each of your Named Developers for which you have a valid, paid License, a perpetual royalty free, non-exclusive, non-transferable (except as may be otherwise expressly allowed by the License), non-sublicensable license to use the Video SDK to develop applications for your own internal use or (subject to any further restrictions listed below) for you (but not your Named Developers individually) to resell, deploy, distribute or license to certain third-parties. Each Video SDK Product license includes a one-year subscription for updates and support. The available license types are:

- The Indie Developer License is valid only for sole proprietors or other entities with only one employee (and no contractor developers). Companies with more than one employee (including contractor developers) may not enter into an Indie Developer license. Applications developed pursuant to an Indie Developer license may be distributed by a single strategic business unit (“SBU”) and only under the licensee’s original brand name.

- The Company License is valid only for up to four Named Developers. Applications developed pursuant to a Company license may be distributed by a single SBU and only under the licensee's original brand name.
- The Enterprise License license is valid for an unlimited number of Named Developers. Applications developed pursuant to an Enterprise license may be distributed by OEM partners and multiple SBUs.

Other licensing terms:

1. Licensing of third-party software, technology, components or patents (such as those from MPEG LA, Apple, Avid, Dolby or NDI Advanced), that may be used together with our Video SDK Product or be an integral part of them is your responsibility. You agree that you are solely responsible for (and that Medialooks has no responsibility to you or to any third party for) any breach of your obligations under any applicable third party contract or Terms of Service, or any applicable law or regulation, and for the consequences (including any loss or damage which Medialooks or any third party may suffer) of any such breach.
2. You agree to treat license codes, license files, the license activation code and license activation instructions as confidential information and protect accordingly.
3. You may distribute your application via a third party under an OEM agreement or third party brand only with an Enterprise license or under a separate commercial license from Medialooks (please contact us at sales@medialooks.com to obtain such license).
4. If your deliverables to a third party allow them to compile the software using our Product, then you must require the third party to obtain their own license to the Product before receiving your deliverables. Please contact us or refer your customer to sales@medialooks.com to obtain this license.
5. You may not use the Product in a manner that may diminish the commercial value of the Product to Medialooks, including but not limited to distributing, participating in the creation of, or promoting in any way a software development kit derived from the Product. You shall not use our Product to create software development kits, libraries (LIBs and DLLs), COM/ActiveX, .NET components or toolkits or other tools for use by developers, programmers or software engineers.
6. You may (at your option) choose to license certain add-ons to the Video SDK for a subscription term that does not run concurrently with the term of the Video SDK license term. Because support for each licensed component is tied to the license term for such component, your support for the Video SDK could terminate while your license and support subscription for an add-on to the Video SDK is still valid. Medialooks does not guarantee compatibility between any supported component and any non-supported component. Consequently, in order to ensure compatibility, Medialooks encourages you keep your Video SDK license subscription and your add-on license subscriptions current.
7. Any software licensed under the LGPL is licensed solely pursuant to the terms of that license, and not the license provisions of this License. For more information about LGPL compliance, please click here.
8. Support. Support and product updates will be provided for the period of your most recent paid support subscription.

xMedia SDK by Medialooks License

The xMedia SDK by Medialooks (xMedia SDK, xSDK) may be licensed under two different license types: Term or Perpetual.

Different pricing levels are available for both license types, which will be applied based on the type of customer, project scale, and intended use. These pricing levels do not impose specific usage limitations but reflect the scope and nature of the deployment. The applicable pricing level for your use of the xMedia SDK will be determined by Medialooks at the time of your order.

Subject to and in consideration of timely payment by you of any applicable License Fees, and to your compliance with the other terms and conditions of the License, Medialooks hereby grants to you a royalty-free, non-exclusive, non-transferable (except as may be otherwise expressly allowed by the License), non-sublicensable license to use the xMedia SDK to develop applications for your own internal use or (subject to any further restrictions listed below) for you to resell, deploy, distribute, or license to certain third parties. Each xMedia SDK Product license includes a one-year subscription for updates and support. The available license types are:

- Term License: Grants access to the xMedia SDK on a subscription basis. License renewal is required to continue receiving updates and support.
- Perpetual License: Grants indefinite access to the xMedia SDK. Support and product updates will be provided for the period of your most recent paid support subscription.

Other licensing terms:

1. Licensing of third-party software, technology, components or patents (such as those from MPEG LA, Apple, Avid, Dolby or NDI Advanced), that may be used together with our xMedia SDK Product or be an integral part of them is your responsibility. You agree that you are solely responsible for (and that Medialooks has no responsibility to you or to any third party for) any breach of your obligations under any applicable third party contract or Terms of Service, or any applicable law or regulation, and for the consequences (including any loss or damage which Medialooks or any third party may suffer) of any such breach.
2. You agree to treat license codes, license files, the license activation code and license activation instructions as confidential information and protect accordingly.
3. You may distribute your application via a third party under an OEM agreement or third-party brand only under a separate commercial license from Medialooks (please contact sales@medialooks.com to obtain such a license).
4. You may not use the Product in a manner that may diminish the commercial value of the Product to Medialooks, including but not limited to distributing, participating in the creation of, or promoting in any way a software development kit derived from the Product. You shall not use our Product to create software development kits, libraries (LIBs and DLLs, .SO and .DYLIB files), COM/ActiveX, .NET components or toolkits or other tools for use by developers, programmers or software engineers.

5. You may (at your option) choose to license certain add-ons to the xMedia SDK for a subscription term that does not run concurrently with the term of the xMedia SDK license term. Because support for each licensed component is tied to the license term for such component, your support for the xMedia SDK could terminate while your license and support subscription for an add-on to the xMedia SDK is still valid. Medialooks does not guarantee compatibility between any supported component and any non-supported component. Consequently, in order to ensure compatibility, Medialooks encourages you keep your xMedia SDK license subscription and your add-on license subscriptions current.
6. Any software licensed under the LGPL is licensed solely pursuant to the terms of that license, and not the license provisions of this License. For more information about LGPL compliance, please click here.
7. Support. If you license the Product under a Term license, support and product updates (new releases of the Product) will be provided during the applicable term of your license subscription.
If you license the Product under a Perpetual license, support and product updates will be provided for the period of your most recent paid support subscription.
